IN SO MANY WAYS.

EVERY DAY.

KIDS HELP PHONE

www.kidshelpphone.ca

Kids Help Phone is Canada's only 24-hour, toll-free, bilingual and anonymous phone counselling, referral and Internet service for children and youth. It is committed to the protection of children against physical, emotional and sexual abuse through education, prevention and intervention. Our professional counsellors answer calls and online questions from kids in almost 3,000 Canadian communities every day. Whether they live in a large urban community, a small rural town or a remote settlement, young people across the country know they can access Kids Help Phone from any phone, any time of the day or night. Kids call about a range of concerns, including sexual, physical, and emotional abuse, bullying, drugs and suicide.

Our website, www.kidshelpphone.ca, allows young people to access Kids Help Phone's professional counsellors online, search through an online library of useful, kid-friendly information and share their thoughts through moderated group discussions.

PARENT HELP LINE
1-888-603-9100
www.parenthelpline.ca

With Parent Help Line, we're helping kids by first helping their parents. It is a national, bilingual, 24-hour, toll-free and anonymous phone counselling, referral and Internet service for parents and caregivers. Parents call about a wide range of issues including divorce, drug abuse, relationships, discipline and child development. Users can speak one-on-one with a professional counsellor; access a bilingual library of more than 300 messages that address typical parenting questions by phone or on the website; or participate in discussion groups on the website with other caregivers. Parent Help Line is managed and operated by Kids Help Phone. The library of messages is developed and maintained by the child development and parenting experts at Invest in Kids.

KIDS HELP PHONE STUDENT AMBASSADOR PROGRAM SPONSORED BY BMO FINANCIAL GROUP

Student Ambassadors are Kids Help Phone youth volunteers committed to contributing to the success and well-being of their own generation. They're trained by Kids Help Phone and in return, they visit schools in their communities raising funds and awareness for the service. They also participate in focus groups and forums, providing us with valuable insight into youth issues. That way, we can ensure that Kids Help Phone services are meeting the needs of today's youth.

PUBLIC EDUCATION PARTNERSHIP PROGRAM

Wherever possible, Kids Help Phone partners with other organizations and individuals to reach young people. For example, our partnership with the Canadian Red Cross helps us reach 60,000 students a year. Red Cross distributes Kids Help Phone material as part of its sexual abuse prevention program in 2,250 schools across the country. Other partnerships include the Canadian Hockey Association, The Canadian Health Network, Tom Jackson, SaskSport, and teachers' federations across the country.
