BMO  Financial Group

A Student Ambassador is a Kids Help Phone youth volunteer committed to contributing to the success and well-being of their own generation.

Volunteers do not work on the phones.

A word from BMO Financial Group:

BMO Financial Group is the proud sponsor of the Student Ambassador Program and believes that Student Ambassadors hold an important role in strengthening the communities in which we live by providing support to their peers and generating awareness of Kids Help Phone.

KIDS HELP PHONE

Kids Help Phone is Canada's only national, bilingual, 24-hour phone counselling, referral and Internet service for children and youth.

Staffed by caring, professional counsellors, Kids Help Phone answers calls and online questions from kids in more than 3,000 Canadian communities every day. When young people reach out, Kids Help Phone is there for them, dealing with issues such as violence, school-related problems, substance abuse, suicide, sexuality, relationships, health issues, loneliness and depression.

What can Student Ambassadors do to help kids?

- raise awareness about Kids Help Phone
- organize fundraising events
- sit on advisory committees
- volunteer at Kids Help Phone community events

What will Kids Help Phone give you?

- training in public speaking and fundraising
- workshops on issues facing young people
- an opportunity to make a difference
- volunteer experience

“Being a Student Ambassador has taken me out of my comfort zone, and I’ve learned to do things I thought I couldn’t. I’ve learned that I can benefit Kids Help Phone while creating a positive image of youth in my generation.” ---Michelle, 17, Halifax

What Student Ambassadors say about it:

“I’ve always wanted to do something about violence. I know a lot of teens call Kids Help Phone about issues like rape, violence, bullying and gangs. By getting the message out about the service, I know I’m making a difference.”

Janet, 16, Toronto

“This was my first volunteer experience. The leadership training gave me the confidence I needed to get involved in my school and community.”

John, 15, Regina

“I love being a Student Ambassador. It’s totally improved my public-speaking skills and my self-confidence. It is very rewarding to think that when a kid calls who needs help, it might be because they heard me talk about Kids Help Phone.”

Anna-Maria, 18, Montreal

“... I cannot think of a better use of my time than to help out with such an essential charity.”

Lindsey, 17, Calgary
